Stenographer held, judge booked: ₹15L bribe deal busted

Somendra Sharma
MUMBAI

One accused was caught red-handed while accepting the bribe; he later told judge Kazi about the payment, says ACB

The Mumbai Unit of the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) has arrested a court stenographer and booked an additional sessions judge in a bribery case.

The arrested accused is Chandrakant Hanumant Vasudev, 40, while Aejazuddin S Kazi, 55, an additional sessions judge at the civil sessions court, court 14, Mazgaon, has been booked in the same case.

According to the ACB, the complainant's wife had filed a petition in the Bombay High Court in 2015 regarding the forcible possession of her husband's company premises. On April 27, 2016, the High Court stayed the creation of third-party rights for the property. Later, in March 2024, the HC transferred all cases valued below Rs10 crore to the civil court, following which the commercial suit in this matter was sent to the Mazgaon court.

On September 9, the complainant's office associate was present at the civil sessions court when Vasudev contacted the complainant and asked to meet him. The two met at a cafe in Chembur on September 12, where Vasudev allegedly demanded a Rs25 lakh bribe to alter the verdict in the complainant's favour – Rs10 lakh for himself and Rs15 lakh for judge Kazi. When the complainant refused, Vasudev urged him to reconsider.

Despite repeated demands, the complainant declined to pay and approached the ACB on November 10, filing a formal complaint. During verification, it was confirmed that Vasudev had negotiated the bribe down to Rs15 lakh and agreed to accept it.

In a trap operation on Tuesday, Vasudev was caught red-handed while accepting the Rs15 lakh bribe. Soon after, he reportedly called Judge Kazi to inform him about the payment, to which the judge allegedly agreed, the ACB said.

Ambulance fares fixed now

Thane: The state transport department has made it mandatory for all ambulances across Maharashtra to display fare charts, aiming to end the financial exploitation of patients' relatives. The move follows numerous complaints about exorbitant charges and demands to regulate fares. While installing meters in ambulances is not technically feasible at present, the department has directed all transport offices to ensure fare charts are displayed inside ambulances and near hospital entrances.

Maintenance hiked as husband hid income

Urvi Mahajani
MUMBAI

The Bombay High Court has sharply increased the monthly maintenance payable by a Pune-based businessman to his divorced wife – from Rs50,000 to Rs3.5 lakh – after finding that he concealed his financial strength. Justices BP Colabawalla and Somasekhar Sundaresan observed that his claim of earning only Rs6 lakh annually was "farcical", given his family's sprawling real estate and finance empire of Rs1,000 crore. He must deposit Rs42 lakh as a year's arrears in four weeks.

Married in 1997, the couple separated in 2013. In 2023, a Pune family court granted divorce on grounds of cruelty and fixed permanent alimony at Rs50,000 per month. The wife sought enhancement, and the husband sought cancellation, citing poor means.

The court cited evidence of luxury parties, foreign holidays, and transfers exceeding Rs10 crore to his brother, calling his claims "misleading and unjust". It also took exception to his argument that his divorced wife should cut down on their daughter's extracurricular expenses. "That a mother dares to work hard and even claims to depend on her own brother... cannot be a disqualification for expecting that the daughter's expenses be met by the father, commensurate with his own standard of living," the bench observed.

KNSS goes global; starts forum for youth

Sriprakash Menon
MUMBAI

The Kendriya Nair Samskarika Sangh (KNSS) will be going global with its new wing, Nair Business Forum (NBF), to encourage an entrepreneurial mindset among the younger generation. The idea is to encourage start-ups and make the youth self-reliant.

The NBF has been launched to attract youngsters and provide them self self-employment skills and start-up opportunities. Recently, NBF launched its online activities, and by next year, a huge expansion is expected, according to president Harikumar Menon, who was speaking at the silver jubilee function of KNSS at the Kalidas Hall, Mulund.

Chief guest Dr TP Sasikumar, vice chancellor of Adisankara University, Gudur (Tiupati district), scientist and formerly with the PMO, said that once Kerala was a centre of creativity and learning. "Now financial crisis and unemployment have made it economically grim," he said.

The chief guest added, "Nobody knows where those resourceful people went, whether it was literature, culture, spirituality or politics."

Sasikumar said people in Maharashtra are really lucky. It has the highest GDP, while Kerala is in the 22nd spot. Though Kerala is home to several spiritual masters, but with the erosion of the value system and lack of economic progress, the state has no futuristic vision, he lamented.

Dr S Rajasekharan Nair, businessman, MD of Janam TV and president of Bombay Keraleeya Samaj (BKS), said that he came to Mumbai as a struggler and worked under a businessman, but soon acquired business acumen. "With determination and courage, I set up restaurants and hotels. However, it was with great difficulty that I established my business ventures in Thiruvananthapuram," he said. Presently, about 30 Nair Samajams are affiliated with KNSS in Maharashtra.

Its plan includes setting up a cultural centre in the Mumbai region, creation of an educational fund, besides medical aid for the economically weaker sections.

MP Waikar, former Mumbai mayor among 36 acquitted in 2005 rioting case

Express News Service
Mumbai, November 11

A SPECIAL court acquitted 36 members of the then undivided Shiv Sena , including MP Ravindra Waikar, MLA Mahesh Sawant, former Mumbai Mayor Shraddha Jadhav, and leaders Kiran Pawaskar and Vishakha Raut, in connection with a case filed in 2005 related to protests against its then expelled member and now BJP leader, Narayan Rane.

"Although it was an unfortunate episode witnessed by the city at large, the identification of the accused is not established in this case. It cannot be said with certainty that the accused were members of the unlawful assembly that committed the riot, even though they were members of the Shiv Sena party," special judge S R Navander said in the order made available Wednesday.

The members were booked on charges including unlawful assembly, rioting, use of criminal force against public servants, and other sections of the Indian Penal Code, Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act in 2005. Rane had announced his decision to join the Nationalist Congress Party, in a public function at the party office in Prabhadevi on July 24, 2005.

During the function, he was to address a public gathering. Before the function, a large number of Shiv Sena members assembled at the venue, with the intention to disrupt the event, the police had alleged. The police had said that prohibitory orders were passed disallowing any assembly of more than five persons at various places. But, nearly 100-150 Sena members assembled and tried to stop vehicular traffic, due to which a lathi charge was ordered. In the commotion, the activists started pelting stones at the policemen and the police vehicles were also damaged, along with BEST buses. While witnesses, including policemen, had narrated these events, none of them identified any of the accused.

Early Signs of Liver Cancer – Don't Ignore the Clues

ADVERTORIAL

Dr. Indoo Ambulkar
MBBS, MD(Medicine),
Fellowship in Medical Oncology
Mumbai

Liver cancer, especially hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC), often develops silently in its early stages, making it challenging to detect without vigilant attention. By the time noticeable signs appear, the cancer may have advanced, making early detection and intervention crucial. Recognizing these early signs can lead to timely intervention, potentially improving outcomes.

Persistent Abdominal Discomfort

One of the most reported symptoms of liver cancer is continuous discomfort or pain in the upper right area of the abdomen. It cari arise from many common issues like indigestion, it is often overlooked, leading to delays in seeking appropriate medical attention.

Loss of Appetite, unexplained weight loss and abdominal fullness

A noticeable reduced appetite, especially when unexplained, can be an early indicator of the disease. Tumour-related changes in metabolism and liver function can create a persistent feeling of fullness or reduce the desire to eat altogether. When such a change occurs without any clear reason, it should be taken seriously and evaluated by a medical professional

Jaundice

Jaundice, characterized by yellowing of the eyes and skin in some cases, occurs when the liver is unable to maintain bilirubin properly. This abnormality leads to the yellowish tint and may also be accompanied by darker urine and clay coloured stools

Abdominal distension

Ascites, the accumulation of fluid in the abdomen, can cause noticeable swelling and a feeling of fullness. This condition often results from liver damage particularly related to underlying cirrhosis of liver which can be causative factor for developing liver cancer.

Fatigue and Weakness

Persistent fatigue and a general feeling of weakness, even after adequate rest, are common symptoms of liver cancer. These feelings can be due to the body's decreased ability to produce energy as liver function declines

Nausea and Vomiting

Frequent nausea and vomiting, especially when accompanied by other symptoms like loss of appetite and weight loss, can also indicate liver cancer.

Changes in Bowel Movements

Noticeable changes in bowel habits, such as diarrhoea or constipation, can be associated with liver cancer. Underlying cirrhosis may cause blood mixed vomiting or black coloured stools Additionally, pale-coloured stools and dark urine may be the indicators of liver dysfunction.

Itchy Skin

Persistent itching without an apparent rash can be a sign of deranges liver function. This sensation may result from bile products accumulating in the skin causing itching

Easy Bruising or Bleeding

The liver produces proteins essential for blood clotting. When liver functions particularly coagulation profile is compromised, it can lead to easy bruising or prolonged bleeding from minor cuts.

When to Consult a Healthcare Provider

If you experience any combination of these symptoms or just any of the above, it's essential to experience any co consult a healthcare professional promptly. Early detection through imaging tests like ultrasound, CT scans, or MRis, along with blood tests, can aid in diagnosing liver cancer at an earlier, more treatable stage

While liver cancer may not always present with obvious symptoms in its early stages, being vigilant about subtle changes in your body can make a significant difference. To conclude, if notice persistent abdominal discomfort, unexplained weight loss, jaundice, or other related symptoms, seek medical advice without delay. Early detection and treatment are key to improving the prognosis for liver cancer patients.

Get ready for transition to ECL framework, PSBs told

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, November 12

FINANCIAL SERVICES SECRETARY M Nagaraju on Wednesday asked public sector banks (PSBs) to get ready for the transition to the Expected Credit Loss (ECL) framework. He told lenders to accelerate the credit flow to the MSME and agriculture sectors while sustaining growth in low-cost deposits. PSBs were also advised to strengthen risk management frameworks.

While reviewing PSBs' performance, Nagaraju told managing directors and CEOs to enhance preparedness for the transition to the ECL framework through robust models and data-driven provisioning.

Nagaraju commended the banks for their consistent progress and advised them to maintain the growth momentum in key sectors that drive employment and rural demand.

The secretary emphasised that digital transformation must be both inclusive and secure, urging banks to fortify cyber resilience, improve grievance redressal mechanisms, and adopt responsible AI and data analytics for superior customer service delivery.

The ECL framework is a new, forward-looking approach to loan-loss provisioning that requires banks to estimate and set aside reserves for potential credit losses much earlier than under the traditional "incurred loss" model. The banking sector has expressed concerns primarily regarding the significant one-time impact on profitability and capital, the high degree of subjectivity and judgement in modelling and substantial operational challenges in implementation.

The RBI has proposed that the ECL-based provisioning framework become applicable from April 1, 2027 for scheduled commercial banks (excluding SFBs, payment banks, RRBs) and All India Financial Institutions (AIFIs).

PSBs have reported a steady financial performance in the first half of FY26, with aggregate net profit rising to ₹93,675 crore and gross NPAs declining to a multi-year low of 2.3%.

As of September 2025, the aggregate business of PSBs stood at ₹261 lakh crore, with advances growing 12.3% year-on-year (y-o-y) and deposits rising 9.6%. The net NPA ratio improved to 0.45%, the return on assets stood at 1.08% and the cost of funds declined to 4.97%, reflecting operational efficiency and robust profitability.

The progress under government flagship programmes such as PM Surya Ghar Muft Bijli Yojana, PM Vidya Lakshmi Yojana, PM Vishwakarma Yojana, and JanSamarth digital lending initiatives was also reviewed in the meeting. Banks were advised to enhance efficiency in application turnaround times, expand assisted journeys through business correspondents, and intensify coordination at the SLBC level.

PSBs have also improved their recovery performance. The National Asset Reconstruction Company (NARCL) has so far acquired stressed assets worth ₹1.62 lakh crore, achieving substantial recoveries during H1FY26. Banks were encouraged to utilise digital platforms such as BAANKNET for faster, transparent resolution and to enhance early warning mechanisms to prevent slippages.

DRAFT ECL NORMS

Banks to flag high loss-given default provisioning

KSHIPRA PETKAR
& MAHESH NAYAK
Mumbai, November 12

WITH THE RESERVE Bank of India (RBI) set to stop receiving feedback on the draft expected credit loss (ECL) framework by November 30, banks are seeking flexibility on the loss-given default (LGD) assumption of 45% for exposures secured by eligible collateral. Lenders argue that this could overstate the loss potential in certain asset classes.

"Gold is also considered an eligible collateral. In such cases, assigning an LGD of 45% seems excessive; a 5–10% level would be more realistic," said a senior official of a public sector bank.

Loss-given default is a measure of the percentage of a loan that a lender is likely to lose if the borrower defaults even after recovery has been made. For example, if a borrower defaults on a property loan of ₹1 crore and the bank cannot recover it even after selling, it will be sitting at a loss. Therefore, the bank will have to make provisions on the assumption that the borrower will default and the recovery won't cover the cost of lending.

As per the draft, while provisioning requirements for Stage-1 assets are expected to remain largely unchanged, Stage-2 accounts — typically those overdue for 30–90 days — may see a significant increase in provisioning, bankers said.

The draft proposes 5% provisioning for secured retail and MSME loans, and about 1.5% for home and loan-against-property portfolios, compared with lower norms at present.

According to a report by Kotak Institutional Equities, in other countries, the provisioning for Stage-2 assets is in the range of 4-21%, with China being the only exception by having 2% provision on such assets.

"While the move to ECL is directionally correct and aligns with global practice, some lenders may seek a longer implementation runway beyond 2031, as the RBI has done with earlier transitions such as Basel norms" Pratish Kumar, partner at JSA, said. "Stage-2 provisioning will be a key area of adjustment, particularly for smaller banks and those with higher retail exposures."

Based on disclosures from about 8–10 banks, the capital impact could range between 75 and 125 bps, though some lenders may face higher erosion, analysts at ICRA said. "Unsecured lenders or those with higher LGD ratios and elevated SMA-1 and SMA-2 accounts may see a sharper impact," said Anil Gupta, senior vice president & co-group head - financial sector ratings at ICRA. However, he added that "the overall sectoral impact should be less than 150 bps. The RBI has already provided a five-year transition window, which will allow banks to smoothen the provisioning requirement over time."

Sanjay Agarwal, senior director at CareEdge Ratings, said noted that several banks have already begun building provisions, which will help mitigate the transition effect. "The ECL adjustments aren't going to impact the P&L directly, so an upfront adjustment through net worth is preferable. It protects profitability and enhances return on equity compared to staggered provisioning."

The KIE report said its seess an impact of 0-4% of net worth and 0-60 bps of credit cost for most banks during transition, and believe that lenders would be given time for the transition.
